JARC's 12th Annual SpringElation!

Thursday, May 27, 2010 from 6–9 pm at the Detroit Zoo

Mark your calendars now for the most fun-filled family event of the season — SpringElation 2010! This all-inclusive family evening helps raise funds to benefit children with disabilities receiving services through JARC's Merle and Shirley Harris Children and Family Division.

During this exclusive event, enjoy a family-friendly picnic dinner and dessert catered by Matt Prentice Restaurant Group (dietary laws observed), music and dancing by StarTrax, face painting by Faces In The Air, all zoo exhibits, rides on the Tauber Family Railroad, docent tours, crafts, prizes for the kids and lots more new and fun activities for all ages.

This year's SpringElation chairs are Ron Applebaum and Jenny Kaplan, Adam and Lauren Cohen, Sharon and Howard Eisenshtadt and Stacey and Marc Wittenberg.

SHIRLEY HARRIS

JARC is honored this year to pay special tribute to the late Shirley Harris who, along with her husband Merle, helped start the Children and Family Division in 1998. According to the Harris' son, Steve, "My mom was proud to spearhead the community's expanded commitment to children with disabilities with funding and the new programs. The Merle and Shirley Harris Children and Family Division is an important memorial to her as a reminder of her role in our family, her leadership in the community, and as a chance to make a difference in so many lives."

SpringElation funds the vast majority of the Merle and Shirley Harris Children and Family Division, which serves hundreds of children with any disability, including autism, developmental delays and physical and emotional disabilities. Vital services include in-home respite provided by trained staff, social opportunities for teens and advocacy with schools and agencies on behalf of families.

New This Year! Innovative and Comprehensive Corporate Sponsorships

Opportunities begin at $5,000 and include tickets to JARC's fall fundraiser and SpringElation.

To become a SpringElation Sponsor or for more sponsorship information, contact Carol Kaczander at 248-538-6610 x343 or carolkaczander@jarc.org.

Watch for individual tickets to go on sale March 22 at www.jarc.org.

JARC's Mission is:

- ✓ to enable people with developmental disabilities to live full, rich lives as respected members of the community in the setting of their choice;
- ✓ to provide access to a Jewish way of life for those who choose it;
- ✓ to provide support services to families who have minor children with any disability or adults with developmental disabilities living at home;
- ✓ to educate and sensitize the public regarding people with disabilities and their value to the community.

Letter from the President:

ROB NUSBAUM

Dear Friends,

As my term as JARC's president is winding down, I am beginning to reflect on the wonderful events that have marked my tenure. From the fantastic 40th year anniversary celebrations, to meeting the challenges of an economic downturn; from our collaborative efforts with our sister Jewish agencies to the opening of the nation's first barrier-free "green" group home, we have stood firm in our mission to provide the highest quality of care to the men, women and children we serve.

Now, as we begin a new year and a new decade, we are also welcoming a new tagline:

Enriching Lives. Erasing Barriers.

I think this new message is simple, powerful and focused. It is a positive affirmation of all our past accomplishments as well as a promise for the future. It says that we are here to enhance the quality of life for those entrusted to our care. It communicates to everyone that we consider it our responsibility to eliminate obstacles that interfere with the right of people with disabilities to reach their fullest potential.

While a tagline is only as good as the promises it delivers, I know, without a doubt, that long after my term as president, JARC will remain a strong, passionate, committed advocate for the people we serve.

ROBERT NUSBAUM, JARC President

JARC is proud to announce THE DR. MARTIN E. GUYER SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

JARC is proud to announce the establishment of the Dr. Martin E. Guyer Scholarship Program, launched by Penny and Seymour Greenstein to honor the memory of their dear friend. The fund is designed to help students who lack financial means be able to participate fully in JARC's School Inclusion Program.

The School Inclusion program provides comprehensive support services in five Jewish day schools so children with disabilities are able to attend school with their same-age peers. JARC provides a Classroom Assistant and a team of consultants to develop a plan of action that allows a child with a disability to remain in an integrated setting and develop their skills and abilities at their own pace.

The Dr. Martin E. Guyer Scholarship Program will be used to assist families who are unable to pay their portion of the costs of services, or who would otherwise be unable to participate in the program without the funds. It will give students with developmental disabilities a chance to prove that nothing is impossible, and will truly make a difference in the lives of others.

The Greensteins established this scholarship program as a loving legacy to Dr. Guyer. According to Seymour Greenstein, "Marty was a good friend for forty-five years. He was passionate about his work, his family and the beauty of nature that he perpetuated with his camera. But more than that – we developed an understanding of each other through decades of simple, honest and two-way communication. That's a blessing that comes along rarely in life."

It will give students with developmental disabilities a chance to prove that nothing is impossible, and will truly make a difference in the lives of others...

Spotlight on Staff: Laurel Berger

Laurel Berger has been Director of the Merle and Shirley Harris Children and Family Division since its inception in 1998. She has over 30 years experience in the field of developmental disabilities. Laurel has been at JARC for 19 years, initially overseeing JARC's group home programs.

LAUREL BERGER

The Harris Division provides services for families who have a child of any age with any disability. As Laurel explained, "Starting a program from scratch was a wonderful opportunity, and something I had never done before. Families clearly had unmet needs, and they were very generous with their time, telling their stories and helping to determine what the Harris Division would become."

Respite care, school inclusion, family advocacy and the Club Scene programs (social and recreational opportunities) were a direct result of families' feedback.

Laurel holds a Master's degree in Social Work from the University of Wisconsin in Madison, with a concentration in developmental disabilities.

Prior to coming to JARC she was part of a team of professionals that freed hundreds of individuals with developmental disabilities from state-run institutions, and developed small group homes and foster family homes. "I've seen a lot of change in this field during the course of my career," says Laurel. "No longer are people warehoused because they have a disability, nor children automatically segregated from their typically developing peers.

I am delighted to support our families who are demanding a full, enriched life for their children."

For more information on services offered by the Merle and Shirley Harris Children and Family Division, contact Laurel Berger at 248-538-6610 x325 or email laurelberger@jarc.org

Dear JARC,

I run a group home in Wayne County and receive your very informative newsletters. I read in the last newsletter about JARC Heart and noticed that one of the tenets has to do with Gentle Teaching. Can you give me some more information about how JARC uses Gentle Teaching and if it is something I can incorporate in my work and everyday life? How do I learn the techniques?

Thanks so much and keep up the good work you're doing!

Jessie M. — Taylor, MI

Dear Jessie,

Thanks for the great question. Gentle Teaching (GT) is a way of working with people through gentleness and non-violence. It was started by Dr. John McGee. Dr. McGee first developed the techniques for people who had become violent and self-abusive after being institutionalized. He has since found it effective with a variety of people, including people with dementia, delinquent and abused youth, homeless people and so forth.

People who become immersed in GT find their relationships with their children, partners and other people in their lives improve. Dr. McGee believes that people become combative, self-abusive or isolate themselves because they do not feel safe or cared about. He teaches caregivers to make people feel safe and valued using four tools: eyes, words, presence, and touch. People who feel safe and cared about are then able to become caring and engaged with others. Safe and caring relationships are the basis of healing.

At JARC, we use our tools in our daily interactions with those we serve.

EYES — Our eyes need to be soft.

WORDS — Our words need to be uplifting. We want to praise, and minimize demands. When someone is upset, we must speak slowly and softly.

PRESENCE — We want to be with people whether they are 'good' or 'bad'. We don't use our interaction as a reward or punishment. When we are with someone, we want to convey an 'open' posture, not one of authority or control.

TOUCH — Many people respond well to a touch on the hands, a pat on the back, or a hug.

While Gentle Teaching might sound simple, it takes training (often several trainings) to really be able to make it a part of who you are.

For more information, go to gentleteachinginternational.com.

This letter was answered by Chris Hench, JARC's Chief Operating Officer, who is a trained mentor in Gentle Teaching and who has addressed professional groups on the principles of GT.

Getting to Know You: Caryn Martel

A new feature introducing you to a person JARC serves, written in their own words

CARYN MARTEL

My name is Caryn Martel and I live at the Keller/Walch Home.

I have been working at ePrize for 3 1/2 years. I started on August 21, 2006. When I first started working at ePrize, I stocked cans of Coca Cola into pop machines. There were 4 pop machines, one on each level except for level 4. I collected the empty pop cans and put them by the back door and then collected the recycling bins from each floor and the empty water bottles and put them outside by the road. I worked Mondays and Fridays. I picked up a few hours other days during the week. I would also stock the cups by the coffee stations and straighten up the conference rooms. Jay Laney helped me stock the pop cans and taught me a lot how to do them. I had a job coach, but Jay was the best person helping me. I also sorted the sweepstakes mail when someone from fulfillment went to pick it up.

In September 2008, I got promoted to work in the fulfillment office just sorting sweepstakes mail and doing data entry. I only work Tuesdays and Thursdays and another day when there is an increase of mail. A lot of mail comes in that needs to be sorted. I like what I am doing now. I like sorting the sweepstakes mail that comes in and doing data entry.

I have a lot of friends that are very nice to me, and help me out at times. Some of my friends are Kate Bush, Shayna Levine, Jay Laney, and A.J. Falik, but she doesn't work there anymore. I miss her.

Social Networking Volunteer Opportunity:

Do you 'tweet', 'blog' and 'post'?

Are you a regular with lots of friends on FaceBook?

Do you do enjoy social networking with friends and co-workers?

Do you frequently "tweet"?

Then you would be PERFECT for helping JARC spread the word about our upcoming events and volunteer projects. It won't take any more of your time than what you are already spend on social networking sites and you be helping JARC reach thousands of people.

For more information or to become a social networking volunteer, contact Lindsey Fox-Wagner at 248-538-6610 x 349 or lindseyfoxwagner@jarc.org.

Spotlight on Volunteer: Ed Cherkinsky

ED CHERKINSKY AND MICHAEL ROSEN

Ed Cherkinsky began volunteering at JARC over seven years ago after a successful career as an attorney. In addition to helping out in the JARC office on a regular basis, filing, assembling mailings and doing a myriad of other clerical duties, Ed also spends a good deal of quality time with his friends at the Grand Home.

Nearly every Thursday evening, Ed and the men from the Grand Home go out for a bite to eat, maybe see a movie or catch a ballgame. Once a month on Sunday, Ed gets together with Ivan, Michael, Ruben, Charles, Jack and Robert and treats them to lunch or dinner and maybe a game of pool. At every fall fundraiser, you'll see Ed sitting along side the men, and at every JARC event they seek out each other's company "to pal around doing guy things".

Grand Home Manager, Lisa Green, reports that the men can't wait for "Ed's day" to arrive so they can spend time with him. According to Ed, "Being with my friends at the Grand Home has been mutually rewarding. We have become very close and share so many happy times. I am grateful to be a part of their lives and to have them as part of mine."

Ed's wife, Barbara and their two adult sons, Jason and Todd, also volunteer at JARC. It's a family tradition sure to be carried on for many years to come.

For volunteer opportunities, contact Lindsey Fox-Wagner at 248-538-6610 x349 or email lindseyfoxwagner@jarc.org or log on to www.jarc.org

Edward Hersch: Business Buddy Extraordinaire

When JARC's Business Buddy program was still in its infancy, Edward Hersch was one of the very first businessmen to sign on. Without much fanfare, Ed's companies provide services to JARC on a very regular basis. Hersch's Lawn Spray does the lawn fertilizing at all JARC homes and at the Katzman Administration Building. In addition, JARC is given a huge discount on salt and snow-melting products during the winter months.

Ed and his business partner, Eugene Sherizen, also graciously donate the use of storage units at their Oak Park and Troy 1-800-Mini-Storage facilities, plus the use of a truck for moving and to pick up donations and supplies.

JARC is very grateful to have Ed's ongoing friendship and generosity because it enables us to save funds that can go directly to providing services to the people in our homes and programs.

Dealing With A Loss:

The loss of someone important to us can leave a tremendous void in our hearts. When that person is part of the big JARC family — whether it is someone we serve or a staff person — it takes everyone coming together to help heal the pain.

Bernice Harvey worked at the Berlin Home for over 9 years. Although her relatives often hinted that she might want to consider retiring, she would hear nothing of it. She loved "her guys" at the Berlin Home. To her, Clay, Gerry, Jonathan and Richard were full of life and a joy to be around. Every Friday night, Bernice would make them a Shabbat spread like no other. If Gerry preferred mashed potatoes and Richard wanted sweet potatoes, that's what Bernice made them. Saturday mornings meant a huge hot breakfast with pancakes and eggs. She loved to fuss over them all.

One morning in January, Bernice passed away. Berlin Home Manager, Brandie Whelan and her other staff, Chris Crissey and Maribeth Cote were stunned. Clay, Gerry, Jonathan and Richard felt they had lost a member of their own family, and in a very real way, they did. Bernice was someone they trusted, someone who put their needs and interests first, someone who cared about them unconditionally.

caring, loving people who live there.

That's the kind of personal connection that elevates a JARC "employee" to a member of the family. It's what distinguishes a "house" from a "home". It's the caring warmth that binds people together during good times and bad.

It's what ultimately gives them the strength to accept what they cannot change and move forward with their lives.

The Berlin Home may have suffered a great loss, but they know they can rely on each other for support. For Clay, Gerry, Jonathan, Richard, Brandie, Chris and Maribeth, the pain of losing Bernice is still there, but together — as a family — they have begun the healing process.

After all, they know Bernice would have wanted it that way.

JARC Goes GREEN

JARC has made a committed effort to operate in as energy efficient and ecologically responsible, or "green", manner as possible. Recycling is encouraged and grants for energy-saving appliances, heating and cooling are constantly being sought out. Here are many of the "green" initiatives already being incorporated in JARC's everyday practices:

- Recycle toner cartridges
- Recycle paper, plastic, cans, batteries, cardboard and computers in the office
- Recycle allowable materials in each home
- Use scrap paper whenever possible
- Make two-sided copies
- Use energy-efficient light bulbs in the homes and office
- Manuals and forms are posted electronically
- Reduced staff newsletter to monthly instead of bi-weekly
- Use electronic communication whenever possible
- Use environmentally-friendly cleaning supplies
- Built a barrier-free "green" home – first in the nation
- Use reusable grocery bags in every home
- Installed geothermal heating and cooling in two homes
- Installed solar-assisted hot water in two homes
